J. W. Hampil went to Hallettsville Friday.

Miss Josie Nation has returned, after a week's visit in Flatonia.

G. J. Bohenkamp has been visiting last week.

Miss Maud Keesee left for Yoakum Sunday.

W. B. Woodley and wife returned Sunday from a pleasure trip. They had been gone a week.

Henry Ettlinger went to Flatonia last week on business.

Mr. Dave Hughes and family returned last week from a pleasure trip.

Will Cherry and Bud Dockery went to Hallettsville last week.

Cotton is coming in fast, and the new addition to the platform is already in use.

Philip Nolan went to Austin to work Friday.

Dr. Kenney, dentist, of San Antonio, spent a few days here last week.

Enil Mueller was here last week on business.

Alex Kotzebue and Geo. Bargman spent Sunday in Shiner.

The latest in drummers who carry no samples travel on bicycles. One passed through here Sunday going to Shiner.

Cline Jackson returned Saturday from his first trip drumming. He reports as having done well. 'Jim' wishes you good luck, Cline.

There were over 100 bales of cotton brought here Saturday, making a total of 325 bales up to Saturday night.

W. B. Friedrich is with us again after an absence on business.

This was the talk last Saturday: "I'll bet 10 to 1, Fred, that you can't pull a rooster's leg off." Fred thought he could, so Julius, Fred and Thomas bought a rooster. Fred pulled his shoe off and put his foot between the rooster's legs and pulled until his face turned black. Fred tried to get bets that none in town could do it. If anyone wants to try, go to Fred. He has the same rooster that he tried it on. Fred started to kill the rooster, but changed his mind. He had better keep him for some one else to try it on.

C W Hampil went to Hallettsville Monday.

C. I. Jaeggli and wife, of Shiner, spent Sunday here with relatives and friends.

Dick Moore, of Yoakum, was here Sunday.

Miss Klobile, of Cuero, is visiting Mrs. Guenther this week.

Mr. Quebedeaux and family were here awhile Sunday.

Miss Mary Jones was visiting here Sunday.

Singing at Dr. Lancaster's last Sunday night was well attended and enjoyed by all present.

Barney Lockman went to Hallettsville Sunday to attend court.

C M Kotzebue and wife returned last week from a visit to Colorado and Austin counties.

F J Arnim, Jr., has a nice bicycle. Keep on and we will have them after awhile.

G. Fluery is here, and will remain until he finishes painting Mr. Krause's house, which is rapidly nearing completion.

Jim.

Mr. E. O. Highsmith, of Corsicana, is buying cotton in Cuero and represents the McFadden company.—Cuero Star.

Miss Maud Keesee left on last Saturday for a visit with relatives and friends at Moulton.—Times.

Frank Biehunko, formerly of Yoakum, is here this week visiting his sister. He has been obliged to give up his position with C F Kaiser at Yoakum on account of ill health. He will probably visit St Louis. We wish him success.

G J Bohenkamp and lady, R Niemeyer and lady, John Johnson and lady, Henry Koester and lady, and B VonLoren and wife attended the Weiser-Speckels wedding at Rutersville this last week and report having had a royal good time.

W B Friedrich has transferred from the New York Life to the Mutual Life Insurance Company. He is in partnership with Mr. Bailey of Flatonia, with the exclusive right over Colorado, Lavaca, DeWitt, Gonzales, Fayette and Caldwell counties.

Dr Brewer of Ehlinger is here this week prospecting. Moulton is too healthy a place, Doctor.

The case against H W Dockery was thrown out of court by Judge Spooner Monday. The GAZETTE is glad to see Mr Dockery exonerated

MOULTON INSTITUTE.

EDITOR GAZETTE: Philip Nolan left us last Friday to take his position in Austin.

Miss Annie Nolan returned from Austin last Tuesday, and left for Shiner and Yoakum Sunday.

Ed Walker and Leroy Phensanton, of Kerr county, came in quite unexpectedly last Friday.

Miss Georgie Walker, of Mt. Home, is also down on a visit.

"XX" informs us that he had a chill Friday. Jim Johnson says it is enough to give anybody a chill to work that press at the Institute gin. He knows from experience in "XX's" place.

Several of the Institute people went to Hallettsville to hear the Otholt trial.

Mr Dave Hughes says he will make this part of Texas his home, for some time yet. He gives a very unfavorable report of the Wichita country. He says that a great many people have purchased land in that country who are leaving their homes, coming southward, owing to failure in crops and low prices, which renders them unable to pay for their land.

Luke McGinty was called to the county capitol last Thursday as a witness in the Halliburton case.

Rev. Fouts filled his regular appointment here Sunday.

The cotton turn-out as a general thing in this part of the country is very poor, and the crop is going to be very short, which, I expect, will be a good thing for the country.

II.

A W Hinrichs and B H Cordes took in the Otholt trial.

A WACO DOG STORY.

Waco, Aug. 26.—A black and white setter followed a boy up the elevator in the Provident building to the fifth floor and when the boy entered one of the rooms the dog lost him and not being able to find the stairs, ran up and down the passages barking piteously. An attempt was made to get him into the elevator, but he would not enter it. Presently he rushed to a window and before Guy Boyce, a draughtsman, who attempted to stop him, could reach the spot, he leaped out and went legs spread out and howling perpendicularly to the ground. Capt. Alfred Abeel, receiver of the Waco and Northwestern, heard the dog's howls and saw him pass the window of the railroad office. Capt Abeel and Mr Boyce watched the course of the dog and saw him when he hit the ground. He lay still for a few moments and they felt sure he was dead, but he arose to his feet and moved off at a trot, staggering a little but using all of his legs. The dog was seen two hours after his leap and he was apparently all right. The distance from the window sill from which the dog leaped to the ground is 70 feet.
